Animation Reel Break Down Sheet

Section I.

I animated these clips from The Planet Heroes: Here Comes the Sun, a direct to dvd release produced by Fisher-Price. I animated all of the characters seen here except the very first character who throws the ball.

-produced in Maya 8.5

Section II.

I animated these clips from GeoTrax: Steamer and Samuel Save the Day, a direct to dvd release produced by Fisher-Price. I animated the characters seen here except the conductor in blue.

-produced in Maya 2008

Section III.

I animated these clips from The Toll, a short film produced by Hatchling Studios. For these clips I went into existing animation to rework the rough spots and allow for changes in the editing. For these two clips I removed everything but the facial animation and rebuilt them from the ground up.

I animated the bulldog for a series of commercials Hatchling Studios did for a law firm.

-produced in SoftImage XSI

Section IV.

I animated this clip from Geoffrey, a short film produced by Keith Wentzell and myself.

-produced in Maya 7.0

Section V.

I animated this clip from Koala, a short film co-directed by Marcos Romero and myself. The goal was to gather a group of students and produce a film in under 24 hours. We finished it in about 35 hours, due to a lack of workers and technical difficulties.

-produced in Maya 8.0

Section VI.

I animated this clip from Mango vs. Spider, a short film produced by students.

-produced in Maya 7.0
